Another new show from Stefan Raab: On "TV total Quizboxen" on October 18, 2012, at 10.30 p.m. on ProSieben, candidates compete in three weight classes. Hit hard, think fast - only those with brawn as well as brains have a chance at winning in "TV total Quizboxen".

The perfect combination of mental exercise and boxing: With "TV total Quizboxen", contestants compete in boxing and quiz round alternately. Two minutes of boxing in line with amateur boxing rules are followed by a two-minute quiz duel round with buzzer before it's back to the boxing. A total of ten rounds, five boxing and five quiz, decide who wins and who loses. Victory through KO is possible in either discipline at any time.

Three fights are broadcasted per show - one light, middle and heavyweight each time. Each victory is worth 25,000 euros and the winner appears in the following show to defend his World Quizboxing Association (WQBA) title. If he wins four consecutive battles, he wins 100,000 euros and can scoop up an additional 100,000 euros with a victory in the fifth duel.

Show inventor Stefan Raab: "There are enough stupid boxers. We're looking for clever ones."

Stefan Raab presents "TV total Quizboxen", Frank Buschmann provides the fight commentary. "TV total Quizboxen" is a Raab TV GmbH production for ProSieben.

"TV total Quizboxen": Start of the new show series on Thursday, October 18, 2012, at 10.30 p.m. on ProSieben
